

Retrofit Refresh: Best practices for existing home audits

September 21 & 22, 2023 12:00-4:00 EDT/day (Virtual Session)

Access helpful tips, tricks and best practices for existing home audits and brush up on your skills.

CACEA member and experienced energy advisor, Stephen Magneron will lead this two-half day training program which will provide a deep understanding of the existing home audit process - providing practical, “boots on the ground” guidance and lessons learned for each building and administrative component; highlight potential modelling challenges; and other information to support the work of existing home EAs.

The content is geared to those who are newly licensed EAs; for REAs seeking a refresh of the existing home audit process; EA candidates who have ideally passed NRCan’s Foundation and EA (House) exams; and for industry stakeholders who want to better understand the existing home audit process. This program assumes that participants have a general understanding of building science, building processes and materials as well as the requirements of the Natural Resources Canada (NRCan) EnerGuide Rating System process.
